ROMANIAN ARMIES COX JUST ITCHING TO BEGIN FIGHT

British War Office Pessimistic as Red Forces Advance

VOLUNTEERS ARE SUMMONED

Germans and Allies Fail to Reach Agreement

LONDON.—(By United Press)—
The British war office took a pessimistic view of the Polish situation Thursday on receipt of reports that red troops were continuing their advance, after having captured the important city and fortress of Rovno, in Volynia.

Advices from Sofia Thursday said a general Rumanian mobilization was under way and the Rumanian general staff has announced its intention of erecting a strong defense against the Bolsheviks along the entire Bessarabian frontier.

Anti-Bolshevik forces in the Ukraine were reported to be in a precarious position, as a result of continued progress of the red troops.

Warsaw dispatches said fighting was continuing from Polesk to Mo-dochno and along the railway running into Vilna.

Polish forces have begun a regrouping in Volynia, dispatches from Moscow, Warsaw and other centers indicated that a great battle was developing along the entire Polish front.

VOLUNTEERS TO FIGHT
BOLSHEVISM SUMMONED

WARSAW.—(By Associated Press)—
Volunteers for immediate service against the advancing Russian Bolshevik forces are called for by the Polish National Council in a dispatch in a manifesto just issued. Besides calling able-bodied men to arms, the manifesto urges men unfit for active service to register in order to release officers men for duty at the front.

The document which bears the signature of President Pilsudski, declares the struggle is a fight against Bolshevism rather than against Russia.

Citizens having in their possession swords, rifles, pistols or other arms are urged to turn them over to the government for use in the army.

GERMANS AND ALLIES
FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT

SPA, Belgium.—(By United Press)—
German and allied military officials, who discussed German disarmament Thursday, reported to the conference that they had been unable to reach a basis of agreement.

Premier Lloyd George said the order to them to resume discussion.

It was rumored that Dr. Gessler, German minister of defense, had offered his resignation to Chancellor Fehrenbach, but that he had resisted the offer.

The German request for 15 months' time in which to disarm was given as reasons for the delay sought.

When Premier Lloyd George asked the German foreign minister why 1,000,000 armed men and 2,000,000 rifles in Germany were still unaccounted for, Herr Simons reminded the British premier that many men were armed in Ireland despite orders of the British government that they disarm.

General Von Seeckt, chief of the German general staff, declared that if the German army was materially reduced, it would be impossible to collect the rifles in the hands of soldiers and former soldiers in outlying districts.

General Von Seeckt said that the German government would be willing to make delivery of the rifles within one year, provided the allies allowed Germany to effect a gradual reduction in the number of troops.

General Von Seeckt met with Marshal Foch Thursday for discussion of methods of demobilizing the German forces and results of the meeting will be presented at Thursday afternoon's general conference.

Marshal Foch declared the Germans would respect the treaty terms.
He said significantly that the German delegation here was not willing to face the music, the allies still had a strong force under arms which could enforce the treaty.

Premier Lloyd George was optimistic that the disarmament question would be settled.

He said everything was "going nicely" and added he expected to go home Sunday. He indicated his belief that the Germans were beginning to back down on their counter-demands in regard to reduction of the army.

THIRD PARTY CONFERENCE
CALLED FRIDAY AT CHICAGO
TO LAUNCH NEW MOVEMENT

CHICAGO.—(By United Press)—
Progressive elements, meeting here in separate conference, Saturday and Monday, will confer Friday night to consider plans for launching a third party, it was stated at Committee of 43 headquarters Wednesday.

That the National Labor Party and the Committee will amalgamate for the purpose of placing a presidential and vice-presidential ticket in the field, was considered "practically certain," was announced Wednesday by A. W. Ricker, treasurer and a member of the executive committee of the Committee of 43.

Those who are expected to attend
include Allen McCurdy, New York;
J. A. H. Hopkins, national chairman, and A. W. Ricker, representing the Committee of 43, and Max S. Hays, national chairman; J. F. Espar, Chicago; and Duncan MacDonnell, Chicago, representing the National Labor Party.

COX JUST ITCHING TO BEGIN FIGHT

Anxious for Early Opening of the Campaign

GOVERNOR PLANNING TOUR

He and Harding Will Remain
Friends, Nominee Says

DAYTON.—(By United Press)—
The presidential campaign of Governor James M. Cox will be outlined early next week at a conference of Franklin D. Roosevelt, vice-presidential nominee; Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee; E. H. Moore, Cox manager at San Francisco, and probably other prominent Democrats.

Cox Thursday said that in his desire to plunge into an active and vigorous campaign at the earliest possible date. Only the protests of many prominent Democrats will deter him from making a tour, it is known, but he is delaying final decision on this question until after a series of conferences. The date of the Cox-Roosevelt meeting cannot be determined until word is received as to when the naval official, will reach Dayton.

Thursday Cox plans to visit his birthplace, Jacksonboro, Ohio, about 25 miles from here, making the trip by motor to greet boyhood friends.
ITCHING TO OPEN FIGHT

The Democratic nominee is anxious to make the middle west his first batleground. That Cox is itching to get into the campaign fight was revealed when he spoke to the Ohio
State Golf Association at the Dayton Country Club Wednesday night.

Several times he came near to speaking on political questions, but then switched to golf.

Altho Cox is ready for the big battle, he stated to the golfers that he will keep his part of the campaign from bitter personalities.

"Regardless of consequences, Senator Harding and I will be the same splendid friends which we have been for many years," he said, and the association rose and cheered.

Cox told how Harding and he jokingly predicted their nominations as president and vice-president of the Ohio Dailies a few months ago, when the association endorsed both editors to head the party ticket.

"Senator Harding pointed out he could say that if he were not nominated, Cox would carry Ohio," said Cox. "Then I facetiously said that if he were chosen, I would have to be nominated to prevent him from carrying the pivotal state. We remarked that it might be charged and that we two editors arranged this whole thing by playing golf together."

COX HOME BUILDING

Cox urged the golf association to encourage home building as one of the surest means of stimulating real estate.

"Things are not going to pot," he said. "Better days are ahead, altho I believe clear open competition in politics, will help bring them. It is a good thing that once every four years we lift our eyes off the commercial ledger and put them on the flag."

Once it seemed that Cox would bring up the prohibition issue, but he suddenly switched, remarking that he knew when he was on "thin political ice."

FARMERS PLAN TO GET MORE CARS

Acute Shortage of Shipping Facilities Brings Co-operation

COLUMBUS.—(By United Press)—
Farmers of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Grange, milling and elevator interests and the state board of agriculture, will co-operate in a united front to break the present acute shortage of cars for hauling farm products.

This was decided upon late Wednesday at a joint conference of representatives of these interests. A committee was selected to take the proposition to the interstate commerce commission, after data on how many cars will be needed in the state this year, and what the present supply is has been collected.

This committee was also delegated to confer with the federal reserve board in Cleveland next Wednesday, relative to more loans. The board will be asked to make more liberal rules governing the rediscounting of farm notes by local banks.

Unless cars are supplied within the next few weeks, many farmers who will be compelled to let their grain stand in the field, was the opinion of those attending the conference.

LAND ARMY OPERATES

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press)—
A land army of 100,000
farm hands recruited and organized by the department of agriculture is moving northward across the western wheat belt harvesting the nation's grain crop in better time than in many years, according to reports
Thursday to the department.

"For the first time in years, farmers have not been handicapped thru labor shortages," Director Taylor of the Farm Bureau said. Attracted by a wage of seven dollars for a ten-hour day, thousands of workers from Atlantic and Allegheny regions have gone west of the Mississippi river to join the harvest drive, according to department officials.

fices of the Carpenter's union late Wednesday night and escaped with $2,000 in cash.

U. S. AIMS BLOW AT SOVIET RUSSIA

WILSON IS READY TO HAND OVER REINS

Won't Resist Cox Taking Leadership of Party

OHIOAN'S WISHES AWAITED

Officials Prepared to Work Under His Command

WASHINGTON.—(By United Press)—
Governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential nominee, will be allowed to take over party leadership without resistance by the Wilson administration according to all indications here Thursday.

High Democratic officials from President Wilson down, have made it very plain that their part in the coming campaign depends entirely on the wishes of Cox and his campaign managers. Had there been any disposition to make the campaign in Washington instead of Dayton, Wilson would have at once announced his plans for taking part in the presidential battle and Cox would have had to accept his wishes, it was pointed out here.

One other significant circumstance in that not one word of criticism of Cox or any of his acts has escaped the lips of any Democratic official here, even utterances not meant for publication.

It was explained here Thursday that the attitude of the Democratic administration is that Wilson follows Cox and the platform and goes their league of nations plank thru. Cox has indicated a willingness to stand on the plank and on a broad endorsement of the administration.

There is a growing belief here that President Wilson's part in the campaign will be thru written word rather than speech, and that Cox himself will assume the burden of carrying the Democratic cause to the people.

LIQUOR ISSUE PUT UP TO COX

Definite Stand Demanded—Will Not Dodge, He Says

DAYTON, Ohio.—(By United Press)—
Governor James M. Cox Thursday was asked by Richmond P. Hobson, Alabama dry leader and representative of the Anti-Saloon League, to make a clear declaration of his position on the prohibition issue.

In a telegram from San Francisco, Hobson declared that a statement from Cox to the effect that he was opposed to any increase in the maximum alcoholic content of one-half per cent as fixed by the Volstead law "would save to Democracy millions of voters who hold this question above party success."

The Democratic nominee said that he expected to answer Hobson and the league by strong statement on the issue.

Hobson's telegram follows: "Dry forces are restive. Republicans amongst them are applying the law to the letter. Do not let these forces have cause to criticize on the highest Republican candidates. Ninety-five percent of the population of America live in states that they have ratified the 18th amendment without reservation. They are jealous of its integrity. Supreme court in unanimous decision warned congress against authorizing increase in alcoholic content. National officers of Anti-Saloon League have asked me to get a statement from you. They cite that Harding voted for Volstead act. Could you give me clear statement of your being opposed to federal authorization of increasing alcoholic content? This would save to Democracy millions of voters who hold this question above party success. Answer care Senator Phelan at Saratoga, California." (Signed) "Richmond P. Hobson, Anti-Saloon League."

RAIL MEN WILL MEET
TO PASS ON WAGE AWARD

WASHINGTON.—A special meeting of the general chairman of sixteen railroad labor organizations has been called for Chicago on July 19, so they may consider the wage award of the railroad labor board as soon as it is made. The award is expected on or about July 20.

In addition to the general chairman, about 1200 committee members from the unions are expected to be in Chicago at the same time to vote on the award. If the labor board's decision is accepted by the convention, it will then be submitted to a referendum vote of the unions. It was said at labor headquarters today, under an agreement that the entire membership should have opportunity to pass on it.

STRIKERS SUE COMPANY

YOUNGSTOWN.—Nine striking employees of the New York Central railroad have filed suit for $125,000 against the railroad, alleging that the company secured their discharge from the Raymond Concrete Pipe Company, with which they had taken jobs by threatening to refuse switching facilities to the concrete company.

SHOOTING GIRL, THEN FIRES ON SELF

Tragedy at Dayton Caused by Jealousy, Says Report

DAYTON, O.—(By Associated Press)—
Miss Georgia Coten, 19, a pretty typist who lives at the Y. W. C. A., was shot and probably fatally wounded here Thursday morning, police say, by W. C. Wy-song, 65 years old. Wy song then turned to point a gun at himself and fired twice. He was not seriously hurt. The three shots fired at the woman entered her chest and shoulders. She is dying.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the shooting. Wy song was working and, pulling a gun, fired three times. He said after wards he hoped the girl would live.

"She got what was coming to her," he declared to police. The girl told police Wy song had followed her to Cincinnati, where she had stayed with a friend at the Y. W. C. A., in that city.

N. O. T. WARNED IN AKRON STRIKE

City Threatens Court Action to Force Service

AKRON, Ohio.—(By United Press)—
The third day of Akron's street car strike saw little hope of speedy resumption of service. City council, in a special session passed a resolution, giving the Northern Ohio Traction Company 36 hours in which to make a five-cent cash fare for 24 days, then absent fare and it resolved, seven-cent fare three months after the expiration of the six-cent schedule.

The N. O. T. refused to entertain anything but a five-cent fare for 24 days, then absent fare and it resolved, seven-cent fare three months after the expiration of the six-cent schedule.

A. C. Blinn, general manager of the traction lines, said Thursday he could not promise street car service for the city this week.

Forty carmen were out on strike Thursday in Massillon on the N. O. T. system and a strike threatened in Canton when Mayor Witter returned a six-cent fare ordinance to council with his veto.

The Akron strike came Tuesday when the men walked out after a 22-day wait for a raise of 17 cents an hour in pay. An arbitration board made increased wages contingent on higher fare. This action being scorned by union men, who agreed to stay out of the fare controversy.

E. E. Ziesiger, attorney, representing the carmen on the arbitration board, signed the board's report.

COX BOOSTERS TO FORM CLUB

Meeting of Allen-co Voters Called For Saturday Afternoon

WILL PROMOTE CAMPAIGN

None Hesitate to Sign Petition
Circulated Here

Plans for the immediate promotion of the campaign of James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for the presidency of the United States, in Lima and Allen-co are already under way.

The first call for a rally of Cox boosters was issued this morning, immediate organization of a Cox club will be effected and the promotion of his campaign will begin at once.

A petition circulated this morning calling a meeting of all Allen-co voters for this purpose met with the ready signature of practically every one to whom it was presented.

The meeting has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the courtroom of the courthouse. The petition is as follows:

We, the undersigned, being voters of Allen-co Ohio, and having at heart the interest and welfare of our country, hereby notify the electors of Allen-co, Ohio, that on the 10th day of July at 2:00 p.m., there will be held in the courtroom of the Allen-co courthouse a meeting of voters who are desirous of aiding the candidacy of James M. Cox, the Democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States. The specific object of the meeting is the formation of a Cox club for the ensuing campaign.

These signers were: L. E. Ludwig, attorney; Lima; Fred H. Fisher, safety director, Lima; M. C. Crossley, commissioner, Allen-co; E. L. Welker, Charter Commissioner, Lima; A. E. Mowery, confectioner, Lima; J. A. Stolly, insurance agent, Lima; J. Trautwein, deputy sheriff, Allen-co; J. W. Halter, deputy recorder, Allen-co; Frank Killian, humane officer, Ottawa; W. A. Eberman, employed in opera house block, Lima; L. E. Miller, treasurer, Allen-co; Edward Hollman, clerk of commonwealth, Allen-co; Oliver Kies, attorney, Lima; L. J. Hanley, oil operator, Lima; Michael O'Brien, contractor, Lima; Earl R. Leach, managing editor, News and Times-Democrat, Lima.

Governor Cox wisely left the choice to the managers here. Mr. Hearst would have liked to see Colby named and there was some thought that the support of the Hearst papers would be easily assured if Colby were chosen. But while Tammany favored Colby and gave indication of burying the hatchet with Hearst in the coming effort to re-elect Al Smith, governor of New York, the leaders argued with Murphy that Roosevelt's name would be worth more votes to the ticket and that his selection would please the McAdoo forces which had been led by Roosevelt.

The westerners of the Hearst newspaper would be easily assured if Colby were chosen. But while Tammany favored Colby and gave indication of burying the hatchet with Hearst in the coming effort to re-elect Al Smith, governor of New York, the leaders argued with Murphy that Roosevelt's name would be worth more votes to the ticket and that his selection would please the McAdoo forces which had been led by Roosevelt.

It is an interesting sidelight that many here ventured the opinion that the name Roosevelt would appeal to those voters who may not exactly confuse Franklin D. Roosevelt with Theodore Roosevelt, but who would consider that all Roosevelts must be worth while folks.

DISCORD SWEEP AWAY

Franklin Roosevelt is popular with the newspaper men in Washington, who knew him through the war as the man who was continuously urging a naval offensive. There has been some talk that Roosevelt didn't agree with Joseph Daniels in the management of the navy department, but all discord was swept away of consideration by the full-scale speech made by Secretary Daniels for Franklin Roosevelt after the latter had been named by acclamation as the vice-presidential candidate of the party.

One after another the vice-presidential aspirants withdrew from the race as soon as the conference under the stage of the auditorium was over. All the leaders and bosses agreed that the ticket would be helped immeasurably by the addition of Roosevelt and the some observers noted a confession of weakness in the decision to fight it out in the east is a bold one. The leaders agreed that what vice-presidential candidate could carry western states that Cox himself couldn't carry, and few seemed to think the addition of Murdock or Meredith would contribute as much as would be gained by the political advertising already given the name Roosevelt and the known executive ability and independence in politics of Franklin Roosevelt.

The vice-presidential choice helped resolve the disappointment of the McAdoo group from the east who the westerners shook their heads and shrugged their shoulders as they faced the prospect of campaigning for a man who won his nomination through the support of wet states. But the eastern Democracy confidently smiled and said that the election would be won or lost in the east anyway.

OHIO SHOE DEALERS HELD TO 35 PERCENT MARGIN

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press)—
Retail shoe dealers in Ohio after July 10, are allowed a maximum profit of 35 per cent over wholesale price, according to a ruling Thursday by State Fair Price Commissioner John Pfeiffer. Thursday's price list pertains to the price of shoes only. The maximum profit of 35 per cent is allowed on men's and women's shoes. The profit allowed on children's shoes is less.

In a statement, Commissioner Pfeiffer states that the profit allowed shoe dealers in Ohio is seven per cent less than that allowed dealers in any other state.

According to Commissioner Pfeiffer's ruling, the price of all shoes or certain containing shoes, must be marked in plain figures for the benefit of the purchaser. The use of plain figures, instead of secret markings only to the dealer and clerks, will tend to discredit suspicion of the existence of profiteering, the commissioner explained.

BLACK HAND FEUD SEEN IN BATTLE; ONE DEAD

CLEVELAND.—A black hand feud was believed Thursday to have precipitated the battle between Frank Morana, 45, and three men in which the former was riddled with bullets.

Morana was found dead in the street.

Three men, one of them wounded in the leg, and all carrying revolvers, were arrested shortly after the duel. They denied knowledge of the death.

CHEER NEWS FOR EVERYONE, AD
MANAGER OF THIS PAPER SAYS

This is the day of harvest for those seeking to cut down the cost of living.

Merchants of Lima, thru the sales they are conducting, are making possible a big saving to the general public of this territory. The sales will reach the apex tomorrow. Advertisements in this newspaper will carry the good news. There will be something of interest for everyone.

There are various reasons for the sales, which embrace every line of wearing apparel, dry goods, shoes and other necessities. The advertisements show Anniversary sales, Mill on' sales, July clearance sales and others.

Chief among the reasons the merchants are offering goods at prices less than new stocks are costing now is the overloaded conditions of the stores because of the unseasonable weather. Now needed for the purchase of fall goods, is tied up in stock which should have been sold weeks ago.

The sales are general. All merchants have suffered the same fate, due to the weather man. The fact that smaller amounts of stock were moved during the spring and early summer leaves a bigger and better assortment from which the bargain seekers may choose.

The advertising manager of The News and Times-Democrat says the ads tomorrow will carry a special message of good news for everyone and that one of the most general offerings of price reductions ever announced will be made.

TRADE BAN LIFTED TO CRUSH REDS

People Misled by Bolshevik, Washington Learns

MADE TO SEE STARVATION

Believed American Act Will Enlighten Populace

WASHINGTON.—(By United Press)—
In removing the embargo against Russian trade, President Wilson has written the final chapter to the present administration's policy toward the soviet government of Russia, officials believed Thursday.

The pronouncement of the state department on Russia, will be the permanent and final policy of the Bolshevik remain in power, it was predicted.

The removal of the trade embargo is understood to be designed primarily as a blow at the Russian soviet government.

The act 1 of the state department carries the following salient provisions:

1.—Each application for permission to ship to Russia will be decided on its own merits and shipping of materials "susceptible to immediate use for war purposes" will be prohibited, at least for the present.

2.—Political recognition, present or future of any Russian authority, exercising or claiming to exercise governmental functions is neither granted nor implied by this action.

3.—Individuals or corporations taking this opportunity to trade with Russia, will do so entirely on their own responsibility and at their own risk, and the assistance which the United States normally extends to its citizens trying or traveling in a recognized country cannot be looked for in the case of Russia.

4.—The prohibition of travel from and to Russia and the United States is unchanged by the lifting of the embargo and passports for Russia will still be withheld.

5.—The United States does not recognize the validity of the industrial or commercial privileges granted by the Bolshevik government to foreigners and Americans are warned against the risks of accepting commodities or other values in payments for shipments where the title later will be questioned.

SOVIET WEAKENING SEEN

The state department is understood to believe that the lifting of the embargo will weaken the soviet in that the Bolshevik authorities have united the Russian people in support of them thru propaganda that the principal countries of the world were trying to starve Russia.

The state department expects very little trade with Russia, if any, since Russia has but a small quantity of raw material for export and her purchasing power is very limited. Thus, the people of Russia will be disillusioned.

Similarly, the propaganda has been carried on in the government for resumption of extended trade with the United States and Russia will be dispelled.

The agitation in the United States by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, soviet ambassador for removal of the embargo has had as its real object the shipment of railroad locomotives to soviet Russia, it is said. It is believed the state department will prohibit shipment of locomotives, as being "susceptible for war purposes."

NO TRADE BOOST SEEN

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press)—
Decreased production and impaired credits in soviet Russia will, officials here believe, make impossible any material increase in commerce, notwithstanding removal by the state department of restrictions on trade. The department's action was taken independently but followed extensive exchanges between the United States, Great Britain and France.

The announcement of relaxation explained that the restrictions on trade materials that might be used for war purposes are still in effect, and that the department's action is not to be construed as any political recognition of any Russian authority. Individual export licenses will be required, and these will be granted only in exceptional cases. Shipments will be made at the owner's risk.

Wilson Accepts Invitation to Assemble Covenant Members

LONDON.—President Wilson has accepted the invitation of the League of Nations to call a meeting of the assembly of the league early in November, it was announced in the house of commons Thursday, by Cecil B. Harcourt, under secretary for foreign affairs.

SLAIN MILLIONAIRE

OFFICIALLY QUIZZED

NEW YORK.—William Pendleton, former business associate of Joseph Bonine Elwell, was summoned by District Attorney Swann Wednesday to clear up what officials said, were contradictory statements regarding Pendleton's movements on the night of the murder of the whist expert.

Swann said that from the evidence he has obtained it is not improbable that Pendleton was in Elwell's home the morning of the murder.

JIMMY COX--FROM "DEVIL" IN A PRINTING OFFICE TO NOMINEE

Some Typical Incidents In Career of the Man Who Will Bear the Democratic Standard in the Presidential Campaign

DAYTON.—One of Governor James M. Cox's cronies is Ed Antrim of Hamilton, O., recently retired as state law librarian. The two were boyhood friends in Butler-co 35 years ago.

"My earliest recollection of Jimmie Cox," said Antrim, reminiscing, "was seeing him drive into Jake Morner's feed stable, near the old High and Main streets suspension bridge, in Hamilton, back in 1885.

"I was working in Smyers' hardware store, across the street, and Jim would often come into our store to buy nails or binder twine or other things needed on his father's farm."

"The family would send Jim into town from Jacksonburg, where they lived, about once every two weeks to do the 'trading.' He drove an old bay mare, hitched to a light buggy without a top.

"Jake Morner, who ran the feed stable, was an odd character, full of good stories, and he and Jimmy became great friends. I've often looked out of the hardware store window across the street, and have seen Jimmie, sitting on a soap box, laughing his head off at one of Jake's yarns.

"When dinner time came, Jimmie would often come across to the store and say, 'Come on, Ed, let's go down to the Butler House and get something to eat,' and I'd generally go along with him, if I happened to have the price. They served regular meals at 20 cents.

"Not long ago, the governor and I were having a 'fanning bee,' and he said to me: 'Ed, do you think there's any place in Ohio today that serves such good meals as we used to get at the Old Butler House for 20 cents when we were kids?'

"After Jimmie got all his 'trading' done, he always went down to the meat market of Joe and Johnnie Fromm and bought a big hunk of Bologna to eat on the 10-mile drive back to Jacksonburg. I used to say to him: 'Jimmie, you'll kill yourself eating all that stuff.'

"I was out with him a year or so ago and we passed a meat market that was displaying some very fine Bologna in its window. The governor ordered his car stopped and he said to me: 'Say, Ed, go in and get a pound of that, will you? I like it as well now as I did when I was a kid.'

GEORGE F. BURBA, a Columbus newspaperman, probably knows Cox better, personally, than any other man. For nearly 20 years Burba was associated with Cox as editorial writer on his Dayton newspaper and then as private secretary during the first term.

"One of Cox's most interesting pleasures," said Burba, "is to walk in the teeth of storms. He loves to tramp thru the fields and along the highways when it's raining torrents, or in a snow or sleet storm."

"Many a time he has called at my house in Dayton during a storm and asked me to go tramping with him. Sometimes we'd walk for four or five hours and cover as much as 10 miles of territory."

"His wonderful vitality is due, in a measure, to the fact that he can sleep a few minutes any time he wants to. I've been hunting with him and, after seeing him, he would say: 'Call me in 15 minutes, and he'd be asleep almost instantly."

"On his hunting trips to the wilds of Michigan he always sleeps one night out of doors, in the dense woods, with only blankets over him."

"Years before he became prosperous he used to dream of owning a certain tract of land in the Miami Valley, four miles below Dayton, and building a home there. The tract is the present site of 'Trails End,' his magnificent home. It overlooks the valley and is the end of an old Indian trail. He loves the wild woods so much that he won't allow the forests surrounding his home to be touched."

Cox got his first "pay job" when he was 12 years old. The United Brethren church at Jacksonburg, Butler-co, O., hired him at 25 cents a week to mow and a few weeks later he went on the payroll of the local school-board at 25 cents a week as janitor of the district school.

"The church was in a cemetery and in those days the kids believed in ghosts," the governor told "I used to be scared half to death as I would approach the church on dark Sunday nights to unlock it and light the lamps."

"And then I have to sit in the church alone until the first communicant arrived. It was always an old Mrs. Keister."

By the time he was 15, Cox had received all the schooling he could get in his immediate neighborhood. At the same time he had become tired of the farm work. His father, however, had a farmer's career mapped out for him.

So the Cox boy "ran off" to Middletown and got a job, at $3 a week, as "devil" in the office of the Middletown Signal, running the press and sweeping out the office after school hours. A week or so later his father located him, but didn't take him back to the farm. "Go ahead and be a printer if you want to," he said.

At 16, young Cox secured a teacher's license and began teaching in the village of Hono at $40 a month. At the same time he taught a night school in Middletown. It was while teaching in the night school that he met Paul Sorg, a millionaire tobacco man, who was president of the school board.

After teaching several years Cox got a job as reporter on a Cincinnati newspaper. He was "fired," however, and then Sorg, by this time a congressman, made Cox his private secretary.

Cox was the first Democrat ever to carry the National Soldiers' Home at Dayton, in an election. Ten years ago the normal voting population was about four to one Republican.

During his first term as congressman, Cox discovered that the Republican Appropriations Committee of the House had increased the allowance for food for the animals in the National Zoological Gardens at Washington on account of increasing costs, but hadn't increased a penny for the soldiers' homes thru-out the country.

When the bill was under discussion, he produced the menus of the Dayton home, the Dayton jail, and the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., and showed that the old soldiers were not faring as well as either the jail or the prison inmates.

"If you can appropriate more money for the monkeys in the zoo, why can't you give the old soldiers more to eat?" was the text of his congressional speech.

law, but recently enacted, would reduce their taxes.

"Governor," said an old farmer, who arose in the back part of the house, "we've heard that story before. You've got to show me."

"My friend," said the governor, "I'll bet you a $5 hat to a red apple that the new law reduces your taxes."

"I'll make it a barrel," the old fellow replied, while the crowd laughed.

Some months later the governor was speaking at Lima. While he was eating his supper at the hotel the colored head waiter stepped up and said a man was outside and wanted to see the governor.

The governor had him shown in. It was the Van Wert-co farmer he had bet with.

"I just wanted to say, governor," he began, "that I'll ship that barrel of apples to Columbus tomorrow. The new law saved me just $15.29 in spite of the fact that I turned in $1100 more of personal property."

VAN WERT.—At a recent meeting of the 40 Van Wert county students at the summer school at Bowling Green, Miss Hazel Ramsey of Union township was elected President.

VAN WERT.—Members of the Eastern Star and their families will picnic at the gardens of the W. H. Meyer home, Friday evening.

DELPHOS.—Presence of mind was shown by John Eick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eick, when he saw an automobile bearing down on him while crossing the street Wednesday. He dropped to the ground, lying in such a position that the car passed over him without touching his body, sustaining only a few bruises.

DELPHOS.—A machine run by Doctor J. Wolfe was struck by a flyer, smashing the front of the machine and hurling it from the track. The driver escaped serious injury.

DELPHOS.—The local nine went down in defeat at the hands of the Ottaville aggregation, with a score of 8 to 10, due to numerous errors. Next day, however, with Billo in the box, the locals walked away with the big end of a score of 6 to 2. "Smoky" Wannemacher pitched for Ottaville.

DELPHOS.—Twenty-six applicants for teachers' certificates took the examination here.

CHICAGO.—Senator James A. Reed, Missouri, barred from the Democratic convention announces he will support the Democratic party although maintaining his present stand on league of nations.

WAPAKONETA.—A meeting has been called by the Board of Education of Musser for the purpose of discussing the question of additional finances for the school fund of that village. Prosecuting Attorney Lewis Stout and Deputy County Auditor J. A. Keenbach have been asked to solve difficulties.

VAN WERT.—Eva Langley, 16, daughter of Edwin Langley of Lima, was shown great daring.

Twenty years ago some railroad men, who were trying to build into Dayton without eliminating grade crossing, sued him for $425,000 criminal libel because of the hard fight his Dayton News had made against their project.

Under the law at that time, when criminal libel was alleged, it was the duty of the sheriff to take possession of the property unless the person sued was able to give bond in twice the amount sued for.

The sheriff of Montgomery-co, a Republican, locked up the News office, with Cox and his entire working force on the inside, engaged in getting out the day's paper.

If Cox failed to give $850,000 bond the afternoon issue wouldn't appear. While he was on the telephone, soliciting aid from every friend he could think of, the opposition came out with an extra with a big headline, "News Is Suspended."

An hour later, however, the News was on the streets with an extra, telling how his friends had come to the rescue with the $850,000 bond. Sixteen years ago Cox bought a newspaper in Springfield, Ohio, and in one day he did three things to it:

Changed its name from Press-Republican to The News. Changed its politics from Republican to Democratic. Changed its time of issue from morning to evening.

Instead of wrecking the paper, these three radical changes started the paper on the road to great prosperity.

Cox won a barrel of apples from a Van Wert-co farmer a few years ago. At Delphos he was telling his audience that a new tax

OHIO AUTOISTS FOR ROAD POLICE

Thefts and Reckless Driving Are to Be Curbed

CLEVELAND.—An active legislative campaign is to be set under way immediately by the Ohio State Automobile Association for a state police force, and for increased revenues for street and road maintenance. Action to this effect was taken at a meeting of the board of trustees of the state motor organization held recently at the headquarters of the Cleveland Automobile club here.

Plans outlined for the campaign in behalf of measures favored by the association call for local campaigns among the clubs as well as statewide activity to be centered at Columbus during the coming legislative session. Members of the trustees point out that a state constabulary or rural police would be useful in curbing automobile theft and reckless driving on county highways.

Six months' experience with the horsepower tax law was said to have brought out that small cities and rural communities in particular are not receiving as much revenue as anticipated from the graduated tax on automobiles. This money is "red for street and road maintenance. Legislation will be suggested so that communities and taxing districts receiving shares of aut mobile revenue be required to place equal amounts in the road repair fund.

Walter D. Means, of Cleveland, was appointed chairman of the committee to have charge of the campaign.

DREAMS SONS DROWNED; FIND BODIES IN RIVER

BURLINGTON, Vt.—A dream was responsible for the finding of the bodies of George Raymond, Jr., fourteen, son of George Raymond, and his uncle, Winford Raymond, seven, son of Navier Raymond, in the Lamoille River at Fitchburg. According to Winford's father, the vision of the boy's mother appeared before him in a dream and directed him to look for the boys in the river. They had been absent from home since Saturday.

The dream was so vivid that the father wakened and at 2 o'clock went to the river bank, where he found the boys' clothing. At daybreak the bodies were recovered.

Baby Girl Wins 3 First Prizes

Parents of Louisiana's "Champion Baby" reared on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

THERE is always a good deal of sickness in the summer months, due to hot weather. The heat is especially severe on babies and children, and often it interferes with their development and growth. They lose appetite, pass restless nights, suffer from indigestion, and finally constipation.

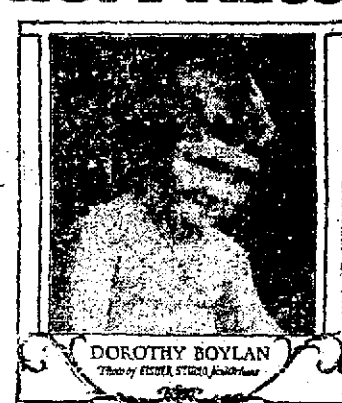

In the hot Southern States mothers give a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, at the first signs of constipation. This formula is known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and they have sold it under that name for a quarter of a century. It is now the sole medicinal reliance in thousands of families.

Little Dorothy Boylan knows what real hot weather is two months of the year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Boylan, and lives at 216 North Alexander St., in New Orleans. She has won three successive first prizes as the "Grand Champion Baby of Louisiana," and her parents say the only medicine they have ever given her is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has kept her healthy and strong, and she is now a prize-winning baby.

You can obtain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store. You will find it pleasant to take, and it does not irritate or weaken.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington Street, Monticello, N. ## TEUTON RAILWAY SERVICE BETTER

Many Trains Now Actually Run on Schedule Time.

BERLIN. — Germany's railroad system possesses more locomotives now than before the war. It is reliably estimated that there are on the Prussian-Hessian lines a few more than 25,000 engines, as compared to about 21,600 before the war—on a then larger territory.

However, in the pre-war days there were fully 17,500 serviceable engines, while today to total runs less than 13,000.

These figures are interesting in considering the whole industrial situation of Germany, for despite the handicaps imposed by war upon rolling stock in general, and despite the drawbacks of the labor difficulties, shortage of material and coal since the war, Germany's railroad system is now beginning to show a marked improvement over its condition in 1919.

May and June official figures bid fair to bear out officials' hopes more strongly than the past year would, in advance, have appeared to warrant. Government shops and private factories are bending every effort to getting the German rolling stock back into repair. And, while they have not reached pre-war production, they are now grinding out tired, run-down engines at a rate estimated at about double that of a year ago.

As a writer of the Berliner Tageblatt summarized the situation, "one can notice that conditions are vastly improved, for the trains now run on time." This is mainly true, whereas during the last winter the traveler never expected schedules to be maintained. Also, it is noticeable that a considerable extension of travel facilities has been undertaken with coming of summer. Better connections exist between Berlin and Paris from June 1, while local traffic is losing many restrictions under which it suffered until the last three or four months.

Red Lips and Health

The first place that anemia, or thin blood, shows is in the lips and gums and the membranes that line the eyelids. You may be naturally pale and still be healthy, but when these membranes lose their bright red color your blood is deficient in quantity or color.

This blood is a danger. It invites disease. The organisms of the blood fight off disease germs. Thin blood means less power to do this. For instance, when you cut yourself it does not heal so quickly if your blood is thin and weak.

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks and lips and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest.

A useful booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order them direct by mail, post-paid, at 60 cents a box.

Iodine for Rashes and Skin Troubles

ECZEMA YIELDS TO IT

For Skin Troubles that Distress and Disfigure, for Pimples, Old Sores, Chronic Ulcers, Boils, Ringworms, etc., Iodine is an antiseptic and healing remedy largely used by physicians as well as others who know from experience its value for the treatment of skin troubles that itch and burn, that keep you awake nights and embarrass you by day, should be treated with Iodine to stop their spread and to heal. As a well-known medical authority says: "Germs spread over the face and neck like a prairie fire, producing eczema."

But, of course, you can't use organic Iodine. Good medical practice calls for Iodine in its best form—LANOLATED IODINE—an agreeable ointment with all the virtues of organic Iodine, but does not blister, and leaves scarcely a stain. It soothes, penetrates and heals. Lanolated Iodine is a family remedy for every day use. Recommended not only for troubles of the skin, but Cuts, Sprains, Wounds and Bruises are happily relieved by this triumph of medical research device for popular use. Fred Butler, H. P. Vorkamp or any good druggist will supply you with a jar. Keep it in the home to relieve yourself and family of many ailments.

GAS SAVING HELD BIG PROBLEM

Lima Company Ready to Join Conference if Called

Frank L. Pringle, manager of the Lima Natural Gas company, said Thursday that his company had received no notice from the chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, calling a conference to discuss what all gas companies consider a vital question—that of conservation.

It attended the annual convention of the National Gas Association of America in Buffalo during the month of May," Pringle said. "A paper on 'The Natural Gas Fields of the Eastern United States and Their Probable Future Life,' was read by W. I. Moyer and discussed at length by all members of the association.

"This paper went into the matter of the gas supply and its conservation in detail, as it especially refers to our section of the state. In this paper Mr. Moyer showed that in about 25 counties in the eastern and southeastern parts of Ohio, gas in great quantity is found, in connection with oil.

"In the northeast part of the state small production is from the Ohio black shales. He also told us Ohio reached the peak of her production of gas in 1915, when approximately 75 billion cubic feet was produced. It has since fallen off about 17 per cent.

"Years ago the matter of the conservation of gas was an unheard of thing, but the conservation of gas as well as a number of other things, has been brought more to our attention during the recent war.

"Every 1,000 cubic feet of gas removed from the earth curtails the supply just that amount. Should the Lima Natural Gas company receive a notice of a proposed conference to be held in Columbus relative to the conservation of gas, I am assured our company will be represented.

ADVERTISING CLUB MAKE-UP IS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

"What Constitutes a well Balanced Advertising Club" was the subject of discussion at the meeting of the Lima Advertising Club last night at the Hotel Norval. Mr. Stiles, the secretary, read a paper showing what other clubs have done. This was followed by remarks by Mayor Burkhardt, secretary Lincoln of the Chamber of Commerce, and others.

It was one of the most interesting meetings the club has held. Mr. Burkhardt and V. R. Morrison were elected honorary members for their special services on behalf of the club. Following the meeting the members were the guests of the Hotel Norval at a buffet lunch.

MANAGER OF BIG ENGLISH PLANT MAKES INSPECTION

F. B. Trevelyan, manager of the Openshaw plant of the Sir William Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., Ltd., Manchester, England, who is touring the United States studying the use of pulverized coal in connection with large scale manufacturing establishments, inspected the Lima Locomotive Works, Thursday, paying special attention to their use of the fuel, while on a two day visit here.

He will remain in the city over Friday to inspect the Ohio Steel plant.

Mr. Trevelyan who has with him T. P. Miller of the research department of his plant is making a thirty day tour of the United States.

His concern is said to have the largest steel plant in England.

CHARTER COMMISSION TO MAKE INSPECTION SOON

Raising funds for continuing work of the Lima charter commission will be discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the citizens' committee of 200 called for Friday at 4 o'clock at the chamber of commerce offices.

The committee appointed by Chairman Walter S. Jackson of the charter commission, to visit other cities where the commission form of government is in force, is expected to start on an investigation trip within the next week, according to Charles Hiett, a member of the committee. Hiett said it is the intention of the committee to complete its work so that the charter may be finished soon and copies submitted to the voters.

BIG INCREASE IN SCOUT ORGANIZATION IS SHOWN IN SEMI-ANNUAL REPORT

One hundred and twenty-two boys have been added to the membership of the Boy Scouts of America in Lima since January 1, 1920, according to the semi-annual report of Scout Executive E. F. Stallsmith, made to the Lima council of the scouts at a noonday luncheon held at the Lima club Thursday.

The membership at the beginning of the year consisted of One scoutmaster, three assistants, three committeemen and 73 scouts according to the records at scout headquarters, while on July 1 it had increased to eight scoutmasters, seven assistants, 38 committeemen and 149 scouts. In addition to those already accepted into membership there are 97 applicants being considered, including two new scoutmasters.

The organization of four new troops in the city this fall is being considered, Stallsmith said, and will bring the total number of troops to 14.

Plans of the camp committee to hold the annual camp of the scouts on the Buettner farm, near Scott's crossing on the Auglaize river for two weeks commencing July 24 were approved. It will be known as Camp Buettner. About 60 scouts are expected to attend.

Members of the council who attended the meeting at the Lima club are Fred C. Becker, Rev. Kirk B. O'Farrell, E. B. Taylor, Dr. A. D. Kneely, H. E. Simonton, H. A. Stonicker, Frank Colucci and E. F. Stallsmith.

Read this challenge—

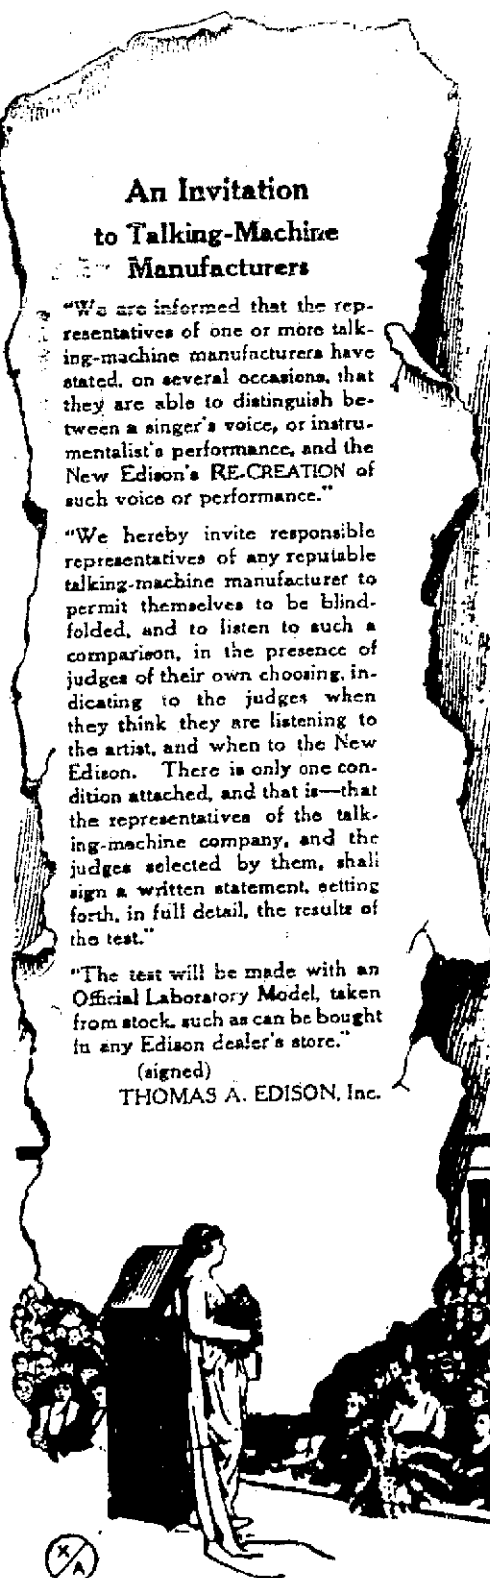

by the Edison Laboratories, and come in to hear the phonograph which stands behind it.We have it in our store—the Official Laboratory Model specified in the challenge.
Read the "Invitation to Talking-Machine Manufacturers." It's printed here, just as the Edison Laboratories sent it out.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The Official Laboratory Model has proved its Realism in 4000 Comparison Tests, made before 3,500,000 people all over the United States and Canada. For instance, in Los Angeles recently, an audience of 1,500 people was unable to tell the difference between the living voice of Miss Marie Morrissey, world-famous contralto, and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison.There's a way for you to test the wonderful
Realism claimed for the Official Laboratory
Model in this sweeping challenge. We give Mr.
Edison's Realism Test. Come in and let us give it to you.The price of the new Edison has advanced less than 15% since August 1, 1914. Mr. Edison has absorbed the bulk of the increased cost of material, skilled labor, and taxes. He is determined to keep the New Edison within the reach of everyone. But conditions may force a price-advance. Buy your New Edison now!
Our Budget Plan makes it easy. It is system applied to spending. Ask about it.

to Talking-Machine
Manufacturers"We are informed that the representatives of one or more talking-machine manufacturers have stated, on several occasions, that they are able to distinguish between a singer's voice, or instrumental performance, and the New Edison's RE-CREATION of such voice or performance.""We hereby invite responsible representatives of any reputable talking-machine manufacturer to permit themselves to be blindfolded, and to listen to such a comparison, in the presence of judges of their own choosing, indicating to the judges when they think they are listening to the artist, and when to the New Edison. There is only one condition attached, and that is—that the representatives of the talking-machine company, and the judges selected by them, shall sign a written statement, setting forth, in full detail, the results of this test.""The test will be made with an

OHIO BALLOT WILL BE SEPARATED

Presidential Ticket to Be Placed on Individual Card

COLUMBUS—(By Associated Press) Names of Cox and Roosevelt and Harding and Coolidge and other presidential electors will appear on a ticket entirely separate from the state ticket in Ohio at the November election, it was announced today at the secretary of state's office.

This will be the first time that the state and national tickets have been separated in presidential years. The Democratic state legislature in 1913 enacted a law to separate the state and national tickets, but the Republican legislature in 1915 repealed this act and in the 1916 presidential election they were consolidated.

A Democratic legislature elected with Governor Cox in 1916 again passed a law separating the tickets, and it will be in effect for the first time this year. The last Republican general assembly again attempted to consolidate the tickets, but Governor Cox vetoed the action.

Mrs. Thompson Greatly Improved

Finds Relief from Her Troubles After a Long Time. She Was Run Down and Nervous, and Was Quickly Helped by that Famous Home Remedy, Nerv-Worth.

"I have been ailing for a long time," said Mrs. Thompson, of 637 S. Center-st., Springfield, Ohio. "I was run down and had no ambition, and I couldn't rest at nights, and really felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I had no appetite and I was so nervous that the least noise about the house would entirely upset me. I was beginning to feel terribly discouraged when I read about Nerv-Worth and I concluded to try a bottle. On taking my first bottle, I commenced to feel better, and on my second bottle I want to tell you that I now sleep fine, my appetite is good, and I am gaining in weight. I feel like a different woman. I will recommend Nerv-Worth to any one who is afflicted with nervous troubles and their attending ills." She has been helped by thousands of other nervous people, found in Nerv-Worth a true friend, and you will find the same if you will but try it. For many years Nerv-Worth has been giving very highest satisfaction in its use, and the results produced by it have been really remarkable. In justice to yourself, when you take medicine, you want to know that you are going to get results, and for that reason, you should feel perfectly safe in using a remedy that has stood the test of years as Nerv-Worth has. It is sold on a money back guarantee and if you are not satisfied after taking your first bottle, your money will be refunded. See Mr. Moore, Nerv-Worth Specialist at Hunter's Drug Store.

FAIR PRICE LIST

Local Committee Receives Instructions from State Officials

Chairman J. B. Dugan of the fair-price commission announced Thursday receipt from State Fair Price Commissioner John Pfeifer a list including general articles of wearing apparel, with the maximum percentage of profit which may be charged. Next week, according to the fair price commissioner's letter a fair price list of shoes and food commodities will be forwarded, and the following week a list showing the margin of profits allowed in all public eating establishments.

The list received Thursday includes hosiery, ladies' and misses' suits, dresses and waists, children's and girls' dresses and coats, ladies' and misses' hats, men's and boys' suits and overcoats, men's and boys' hats, men's hosiery, women's and children's gloves, women's and children's underwear and corsets, men's furnishings, gloves and overalls. The margins of profit permissible range from 25 percent on cotton hosiery to 45 percent on millinery.

Chairman Dugan said meetings of the merchants dealing in various lines will be called at an early date for a thorough explanation of the requirements of the fair-price commission.

OHIO BALLOT WILL BE SEPARATED

Presidential Ticket to Be Placed on Individual Card

COLUMBUS—(By Associated Press) Names of Cox and Roosevelt and Harding and Coolidge and other presidential electors will appear on a ticket entirely separate from the state ticket in Ohio at the November election, it was announced today at the secretary of state's office.

This will be the first time that the state and national tickets have been separated in presidential years. The Democratic state legislature in 1913 enacted a law to separate the state and national tickets, but the Republican legislature in 1915 repealed this act and in the 1916 presidential election they were consolidated.

A Democratic legislature elected with Governor Cox in 1916 again passed a law separating the tickets, and it will be in effect for the first time this year. The last Republican general assembly again attempted to consolidate the tickets, but Governor Cox vetoed the action.

Mrs. Thompson Greatly Improved

Finds Relief from Her Troubles After a Long Time. She Was Run Down and Nervous, and Was Quickly Helped by that Famous Home Remedy, Nerv-Worth.

"I have been ailing for a long time," said Mrs. Thompson, of 637 S. Center-st., Springfield, Ohio. "I was run down and had no ambition and I couldn't rest at night, and really felt as if I was in the morning as when I went to bed. I had no appetite and I was so nervous that the least noise about the house would entirely upset me. I was beginning to feel terribly discouraged when I read about Nerv-Worth, and I concluded to try a bottle. On taking my first bottle, I commenced to feel better and on my second bottle I want to tell you that I now sleep fine, my appetite is good, and I am keeping in weight. I feel as if I am a different woman. I will recommend Nerv-Worth to anyone who is afflicted with nervous troubles and their attending ills." Mrs. Thompson, like thousands of other nervous people found in Nerv-Worth a true friend, and you will find the same if you will but try it. For many years Nerv-Worth has been giving very highest satisfaction to its users and the results produced by it have been really remarkable. In justice to yourself, when you take Nerv-Worth, you want to know that you are going to get results, and for that reason, you should feel perfectly safe in using a remedy that has stood the test of years as Nerv-Worth has. It is sold on a money back guarantee and if you are not satisfied after taking your first bottle, your money will be refunded. See Mr. Moore, Nerv-Worth Specialist at Hunter's Drug Store.

FAIR PRICE LIST

Local Committee Receives Instructions from State Officials

Chairman J. B. Dugan of the Allen-co. fair-price commission announced Thursday receipt from State Fair Price Commissioner John Pfeiffer a list including general articles of wearing apparel, with the maximum percentage of profit which may be charged. Next week, according to the fair price commissioner's letter a fair price list of shoes and food commodities will be forwarded, and the following week a list showing the margin of profits allowed in self public eating establishments.

The list received Thursday includes hosiery, ladies' and misses' suits, dresses and waists, children's and girls' dresses and coats, ladies' and misses' hats, mens' and boys' suits and overcoats, mens' and boys' hats, mens' hosiery, womens' and children's gloves, womens' and children's underwear and corsets, mens' furnishings, gloves and overalls. The margins of profit permissible range from 25 percent on cotton hosiery to 45 percent on millinery.

Chairman Dugan said meetings of the merchants dealing in various lines will be called at an early date for thorough explanation of the requirements of the fair-price commission.

PROGRESS IS THE WORD

IN view of the undeniable fact that we advance only by co-operation, there is every reason why the more fortunate should help the fellow who is down; not necessarily with money, but with a kind word, a kind deed. And in that procedure one will not only be helping the other fellow, but also himself.

It cannot be that the American business man has lost his nerve. Far from it. Grim-visaged war—the final argument of kings—is over. But labor and capital continue at war and unrest holds the country in its grasp. It spells disaster for some and opportunities for others. For the trouble-maker and exponent of strikes and riots it is having serious consequences. For the uplifting American mar of ideals and principles it offers wonderful possibilities.

We should learn that we gain nothing by fighting each other. On the contrary, we improve and prosper by cooperation and get-together motives. Your faith in your government and attitude towards your business is your greatest asset or liability,—and you can take your choice.

If you are in a rut, pull yourself out quickly. For the only difference between a rut and a grave is one of length and width. John Jacob Astor made his greatest strike during the war of 1812. The civil war spelled opportunity for Cornelius Vanderbilt. The Chicago fire was a real boom for Marshall Field. The Armour fortune grew more rapidly during the business panic in 1873 than ever before.

Opportunities are here for the laborer and the executive, if they will but keep up their courage and nerve. But harmony and peace must prevail.

FINANCIAL RELIEF FOR LIMA

CITY officials have announced that the voters of Lima will be asked to pass on the proposal to place two mills of the general bonded debt outside the fifteen-mill limitation of the Smith tax law at the August primary. This action is to be taken in accordance with the general trend of Ohio cities in taking advantage of the measure passed by the last legislature to give relief to municipalities. It is necessary if the operating revenue is to be kept up to the place where efficient service may be continued.

It is probable that the placing of the two mills outside the Smith law limitations will be nullified here within a short time thru the increased tax duplicate if it is passed. As soon as the duplicate is increased sufficiently to make up the difference between what is asked and the revenue at present, the money will not be needed and will not affect the taxes in general.

It is absolutely necessary for the city to take this step. Many others already have availed themselves of the relief. Voters who desire to see Lima go ahead and not be hampered and forced to cut down its police and fire departments and other service will support the proposal. It is not for luxuries, but to take care of the increased cost of everything entering into the operation of a city.

MISS LIMA: "Life insurance companies are not anxious to take a risk on a man who believes his automobile can lick a locomotive on a grade crossing."

EUROPE'S NEED IS WORK

RECENTLY returned to the United States from a tour of Europe, Henry Bernstein, a student of the affairs of that continent, has added the weight of his opinion to the utterances of other observers. He is convinced that the situation is anything but inviting, with cabinets crashing everywhere and only one premier—now out of a job—displaying anything like an intelligent understanding of continental needs.

There are two factors standing in the way of getting Europe back to its economic feet—Russia and non-productivity. Russia is bolshevistic, her people for the most part won't work. It is on the road to ruin all too rapidly. And yet there are misguided women in America who picketed the Chicago and San Francisco national political conventions, demanding that the great parties declare in favor of the lifting of the blockade against Russia, the only thing that is preventing it from going to absolute ruin.

European statesmanship has yet to solve the European puzzle; the workers of the continent can solve the other if they will. The war ended in November of 1918 and the real beginning of recuperation, so far as industry is concerned, can be found only in Germany; of all the continental countries.

The present course of Europe is that the people have either forgotten how to work or have lost their desire for work. The uncertainty of today is preventing the working people from thinking of tomorrow. Europe is topsy-turvy, struggling convulsively in the aftermath of war, suffering almost as much from the peace made in Paris as from the war made in Berlin and Vienna. Instead of one Austria-Europe now has a number of new small Austrias with the same national and racial problems and conflict which must, sooner or later, lead to a new eruption. Austria has become a pauper state whose condition is tragic. Hungary is warlike, in the throes of white or black terror, and before long there will undoubtedly be another outbreak in that part of the world.

Unhappy and deplorable indeed is the situation in the old world.

LIMA'S CHAUTAUQUA

WITHIN a few days citizens of Lima and surrounding territory will have the opportunity of again attending the chautauqua which has been made possible by the work of public-spirited men and women who want this community to have the best in the way of entertainment and educational features.

The chautauqua this year promises to eclipse those of former years. The educational numbers are exceptionally good and an array of talent will be brought together such as few cities have heretofore seen.

Chautauquas have become almost a necessity. They are looked forward to as the bright of the seasons for it is thru them that it is possible to get the best talent obtainable at a very moderate price. They are educational in a high degree and entertaining for they are made up in such a manner that there is something for every member of the family, no matter what his likes.

The men and women who have given their time and guaranteed the money that this year's chautauqua may be a success are to be complimented and they should be given the hearty support of every citizen in the city and adjacent territory.

YOUR NAME

By Philip Francis Nowlan
VARIATIONS — Greenwald, Greenwalt, Greenwood, Greenwald, also English.
SOURCE—Descriptive of Locality.
The last named of the variation of this family name gives you the clue to its meaning, as it is the only name of English origin in the group. The rest are of German development.

By far the larger number of families in the United States bearing the various forms of this name trace it back to German origin, for the name had a much wider development in Germany than in England. This is ascribed to the fact that even the period of family name formation took place considerably later in Germany than in England, most sections of that country were less developed than the England of two or three hundred years before. In short there were more forests, hence more "Greenwoods" in Germany than in England.

It is rare that an English and a German family name of exactly the same meaning run so near parallel in the phonology of the words of which they are composed. Both "green" and "grune" come from the same root. Formally the English word was spelled "grene," and the older form of the German word was "gruene." In the development of one language the "u" has prevailed and in that of the other the "u." In the same manner the words "wood" and "wald" come from the same root. The older form of the one was "wode" developed from a still earlier "woldo."

Greenwald is, of course, the true form of the German name. Greenwald and Greenwalt are modern variations, developed, as you may plainly observe from the first syllable, under the influence of English speech.

itch, Spanish itch or, once in a while, even "uric acid in the system!" Schools, camps and other places where people associate intimately are often infested with itch, which is, of course, readily communicated by personal contact, by towels, toilet articles and clothing. Not all that itches is scabies, but many a case of scabies masquerades as something more refined. The cure for actual scabies is very vigorous hot soap and water scrubbing to the point of tenderness, followed by very generousunction with freshly prepared sulphur ointment.

HEALTH HINTS FOR TODAY

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
UNBIDDEN GUESTS
Isn't it strange how a company always comes when you have a good time planned for yourself? Take Cimex leucatus, for instance. Just when you have found the quaintest little summer resort and a boarding house with the most cheerful country folk and surprisingly reasonable rates and a bed that fairly reaches out and invites you to rest your hot, weary flesh to the soft music of the just as you are dozing off in a state of perfect bliss, the Cimex leucatuses drop in and proceed to make themselves at home on your poor carcass. First you dreamily wonder if there are mosquitoes about the place; then as you search uncertainly for the spot you suspect the ham you ate is giving you the hives. This goes on for quite a spell before you finally come to and light hydrogen. Tincture of iodine touched once only upon the bites gives some relief.

If coolies come to spend a holiday with you remember that they live in clothing and one of the best ways to destroy them in nothing is by immersion of the clothing in gasoline for half an hour.
Head lice deposit their eggs on the shaft of the hair close to the skin, the eggs or nits are difficult to remove. Saturate the hair for two hours with a mixture of equal parts of kerosene and vinegar, avoiding fire while the hair is wet. Then shampoo. Repeat this daily as long as any lice or nits remain. To remove nits, draw strands of hair thru a soft cloth wet each time with hot vinegar.
The smallest yet the most industrious of all vermin which are unbidden guests of even our best people off on vacation is Acarus scabiei, barely visible to the naked eye, which causes scabies, commonly known as the itch and often gitchies under fancy titles like French itch, Cuban

My dear Mr. Morrison:—

I have such pleasant memories of the few days I recently spent in the Hotel Norval that I cannot refrain from expressing to you my appreciation of your uniform courtesy coupled with the unusual appointments, service and indeed atmosphere of the Norval.

Traveling through the country as I do, it was a rare experience to find such an oasis in the desert. You certainly are a Past Master in Hotel Management. Under your magic touch, the Norval has been transformed into a hostelry which would be a credit in any city in the Country and which is certainly a hotel of which Lima may well be proud. I assure you that in my contemplated visits to Lima, I shall always anticipate the real pleasure of stopping at the Norval.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

John Wesley Hill

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

For some time past we have been receiving communications of various sorts to the effect that two-dollar bills are unlucky and the possessor at them is sure to meet with misfortune in some form or other.

We have also read much of this superstition in the newspapers. Race track habitués will never touch a two-dollar bill. Card players shun them.

Now we have decided to become a martyr or a hero or whatever you may choose to term it. Somebody has got to do it to save the people of this country, and, as we have lived a long time and have seen almost everything, we will make the grand sacrifice.

We are prepared to receive all two-dollar bills that people are anxious to rid themselves of, and will guarantee not to send them back. In fact, they will never trouble their former owners again. We have made arrangements to park or place in live or dead storage at least ten million of these unlucky bills. We ask no recompense for this act of heroism except the knowledge that we have served our country.

Send your two-dollar bills at once to our address, which is well known, and no questions will be asked.

JUDITH of BLUE LAKE RANCH

By JACKSON GREGORY

In less than half an hour Doc Tripp, showing every sign of a hurried toilet, rode into the court-yard. He came swiftly into the office, bag in hand. Judith, waiting impatiently for him, lost no words in telling him her suspicions. And Doc Tripp, hearing her out, swore softly and fluently, briefly asking her pardon when he had done.

"I'm a jackass," he said fervently. "I always knew I was a fool, but I didn't know that I was an idiot! Why, Judy, those damned pigeons have been sailing all over the ranch, billing and cooing and picking up and toting cholera germs. Any fool can see it now. I might have known something was up when Trevers bought the infernal things. It's as simple as one, two, three. Now this other Jasper, pretending to look for a job, brings on some more of them, so that the disease will spread the faster. Let me get my two hands on him, Judith. For the love of God, lead me to him."

But, instead, she led him to the dozen white pigeons which Carson brot in.

Tripp, all business, again, improved his laboratory, washed the pigeons' feet, made his test, with never another curse to tell of his progress. Judith left him and went into the courtyard, where, in a moment, Carson came to her.

"You better tell me what's up," he said sharply. "I know something is. That new guy that just come in is darned hard to keep. Just as quick as I grab a shotgun and go to shooting pigeons he moseys to the corral and starts saddling his horse."

"Don't let him go!" Carson smiled a dry, mirthless smile.

"Bud is looking out for him right now," he explained. "Don't you worry none about his going before we say so. But I want to know what the play is."

Judith told him. Carson shook his head.

"Think of that?" he muttered. "Why, a man that would do a trick like that oughtn't to be let live two seconds. Only," and he wrinkled his brows at her, "where does Poker Face come in? We ain't got no call to suspicion he's in on it."

"You watch him, just the same, Carson. We know that somebody here has been working against us. Some one who turned Shorty loose. Maybe it isn't Poker Face, and maybe it is."

"He plays a crib game like a sport and a gentleman," muttered Carson. "He beat me seven games out'n nine last night!" And, still with that puzzled frown in his eyes, he went to watch Poker Face and the new man. To have one of the men for whom he was responsible suspected him of old Carson's sorcery. And Poker Face, the man with whom he delighted to play a game of cards—it was almost as the Carson himself had come under suspicion.

"You're going to stick around just a little while, stranger," Bud Lee was saying quietly to a shifty-eyed man in the corral. "Just why, I don't know. Orders, you know."

"Orders be damned," snarled the newcomer. "I go where I please and when I please."

He set a foot to his stirrups. A lean, muscular hand fell lightly upon his shoulder and he was jerked back promptly. Lee smiled at him. And the shifty-eyed man, who he protested sharply, remained where he was.

A thin, saturnine man whose lips never seemed to move, a man with dead-looking eyes into which no light of emotion ever came, watched them expressionlessly from where he stood with Carson. It was Poker Face.

"No," Poker Face answered, too a sharp question from the persistent Carson.

"Sure, you are?"

"Yes."

At last word came from Judith. Carson and Lee were to bring both of the suspected men to the house. Doc Tripp, wiping his hands on a towel, his sleeves up, bestowed upon the two of them a look of unutterable contempt and hatred.

"You low-lived skunks!" was his greeting to them.

"Easy, Doc," continued Judith from her desk. "That won't get us anywhere. Who are you?" she demanded of the man standing at Lee's side.

"Me?" demanded the man with an assumption of jauntness. "I'm Donley, Dick Donley, that's who I am!"

"When did you get here?"

"Bout an hour ago."

"What did you come for?"

"Lookin' for a job."

"Did Carson say he hadn't anything for you?"

"No, he didn't. You're askin' a lot of questions. If you want to know," he added with new surtness. "Then why are you going in such a hurry? Don't you like to see any one shoot pigeons?"

Donley stared back at her insolently.

"Because I didn't fall for the crowd," he retorted bluntly. "An' if you want to know, because I didn't banker for the job when I found out who was runnin' it."

"Meaning me? A girl? That it?"

"You guessed it."

"Who told you that I was running the outfit?" she demanded suddenly, her eyes hard on his. "You must have found that out pretty soon! Who told you?"

Donley hesitated, his eyes running from her to the other faces about him, resting longest upon the expressionless, dead-looking eyes of Poker Face.

"What difference does it make who told me?" he snapped.

"Answer me," she commanded.

"Who told you?"

"Well," said Donley. "he did. Poker Face told me."

"Who told you that his name was Poker Face?" Judith shot the question at him.

Donley moved a scuffling foot back and forth, stirring uneasily. That he was lying, no one there doubted; that he was but a poor liar after all was equally evident.

"You ain't got no call to keep me here," he said at last. "I ain't goin' to answer questions all day."

"You'll answer my questions if you don't want me to turn you over to Emmet Sawyer in Rocky Bend!" she told him coolly. "How did you know this man was called Poker Face? Did you know him before?"

Donley's eyes went again, furtive and swift, to Poker Face. But so did all other eyes. Poker Face gave no sign.

"Yes," answered Donley then, taking refuge at last upon the solid basis of the truth.

"Did you know this man?" Judith asked then of Poker Face, turning suddenly on him.

"No," said Poker Face.

Donley, having guessed wrong, flushed and dropped his head. Then he looked up defiantly and with a short, forced laugh.

"Suppose I know him or don't know him," he asked with his old insolence, "whose business is it?"

But Judith was giving her attention to Poker Face now.

"Where did you get that white pigeon you turned loose this morning?" she asked crisply.

"Caught it," was the quiet answer.

"How?"

"With my han's."

"Why?"

"Jus' for fun."

"Did you know that pigeons could carry hog-cholera on their feet?"

"No. But I wouldn't have been afraid, not bein' a hawg."

Donley tuttered. Poker Face looked unconcerned.

"Take that man Donley into the hall," Judith said to Lee. "See if he has got any pigeon feathers sticking to him anywhere, inside his shirt, probably. If you need any help, say so."

Very gravely Bud Lee put a hand on Donley's shoulder.

"Come ahead, stranger," he said quietly.

"You go to hell!" cried Donley, springing away.

But Bud Lee's hand was on him, and he struggled and cursed and threatened he went with Lee into the hallway. Tripp, watching thru the open door, smiled.

Donley was on his back, Lee's knees on his chest.

"I'll tell you one thing, stranger," Bud Lee was saying to him softly, as his hand tore open Donley's shirt. "You open your dirty mouth to cuss just once more in Miss Sanford's presence and I'll ruin the looks of your face for you. Now lie still, will you?"

"Connect me with the Bagley ranch," Judith directed the Rocky Mountain operator. "That's right, isn't it, Doc?"

"Yes," answered Tripp. "That's the nearest case of cholera."

"Hello," said Judith when the connection had been established. "Mr. Bagley? This is Judith Sanford, Blue Lake ranch. I've got a case of hog cholera here, too. I want some information."

She asked her questions, got her answers. Triumphantly she turned to Tripp.

The Bagley ranch, tho a hundred miles away, was the nearest cholera-infected place of which Tripp had any knowledge. Bagley did have a flock of pigeons—a man, a month or so ago, had bought two dozen from him; the man wasn't Trevers. Bagley didn't know who he was. The same man, however, had shown up three days ago and had asked for another half-dozen of the birds. There had been three white pigeons among them. He was a shifty-eyed chap, Bagley said, old brown suit, hat with a rattlesnake skin around the crown. That, point for point, spelled Donley.

Lee returned with the shirt which going to pay for this morning's work. I've got nothing on you, it's up to you to see that I don't get it! And you can tell Shorty for me—yes, and Quinlan too, and Bayne Trevers, if you like—that I am ready and waiting for your next play! And don't forget that when San Quentin is full there's still room in Folsom."

Judith telephoned Emmet Sawyer that she had a man for him. Lee and Carson conducted an expostulating Donley to the grain-house and jailed him wordlessly. Then Carson put a man on guard at the door, day and night.

Light tho it was. When all was done he filled his pipe slowly and turned troubled eyes after Poker Face.

"She made a mistake there, tho," he said reluctantly. "A better crow-head I never ask too see. Bud. An' you ought to see the game of crib that man plays! Nope, Judy; you're wrong there."

But Bud Lee, the man who did not approve of the sort of woman who did man's work, said with unusual warmth:

"Don't you fool yourself, Carson! She hasn't made one little misplay yet!"

Charming Luncheon
Given by Girls Club

Mrs. Harold Bennington, (Chicago), formerly Lucille Orchard of Lima was honored with a charming 1 o'clock luncheon given by the members of the Girls Embroidery Club today at the Shawnee Country club. Mrs. Bennington is one of the out-of-town members of the club and is visiting at the home of her father, J. E. Orchard, 539 W. Market-st.

The table was attractively adorned with summer flowers, and places were marked for the following: Mrs. Harold Bennington, (Chicago); Mrs. Lloyd Apples, (Chicago); Mrs. R. M. Crawford, Mrs. Wm. Hum Daniels, Mrs. Charles Boyer, Mrs. R. E. Horn, Miss Lena Rody, Mrs. J. R. Stoneburner, Mrs. Paul Stueber, and Miss Evelyn Davidson, of the club members.

Guests were: Mrs. John Wilson, (Bowen Jackson), (Chicago); Mrs. H. H. Crawford; Miss Margaret Foster, Marion, guest of Mrs. Horn, and Mrs. Dwight W. Madison, Wis., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hoyer, Lima.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Kettler, W. Market-st. An interesting program was given, and among the talks was an account of the work of Lutheran churches in various cities given by Mrs. John Richards, Philadelphia, wife of Rev. Richards, former pastor of St. Paul's church here.

Mrs. William Lang gave a talk on the work of the District Tuberculosis Hospital. Daily refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Miss Dolores McGraw has returned to her home in Columbus after visiting Miss Charlotte Seiber, W. Spring-st.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams, Sr. Toledo, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams, Jr., S. Cole-st.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Elder, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Finon and daughter, Betty, have motored to Orchard Island to spend the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Murray and three children, Lucille, Pauline and Clarence, of Toledo, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mathers, 1121 E. Wayne-st.

Miss Mary Murphy, N. Collet-st., has returned from an extended visit in Cincinnati, and brought with her a guest, Miss Helen Gordon, of Cincinnati. Miss Murphy and Miss Gordon were fellow students at Mt. St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio. They will return to Cincinnati Sunday.

Thirty-eight members of the Ladies Aid Society of Zion Lutheran church attended the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. The usual business session was held, after which a social hour was enjoyed. Three guests were also present for the afternoon. They were: Mrs. Emmett Riley, Mrs. Von Flon and Miss Eda Betton. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Fetter.

Miss Irene Rudy, N. Jefferson-st., has returned home after a short visit with Mrs. L. C. McCarty, of near Harrod.

Mrs. John Richards, Philadelphia, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Davison, N. Collet-st. Mrs. Richards is a former Lima resident, her husband, Rev. Richards, at one time being pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Gibson Dilline and children, Martha and Gibson, Jr., have returned from a week's visit in Vaughnsville. While there they motored thru the hills around that town.

Misses Freda and Marlene Prosser, N. West-st., are attending the Elks convention in Chicago this week.

Gas in the Stomach
Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers, food fermentations and sour, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition, or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from your druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated feeling out of the body, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent acid formation and there is no source of pain. Bismarck Magnesia is the best of tablet form—never harmful or unpalatable to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enter their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Be Careful What You
Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Mrs. Anna O'Connor and children, W. Wayne-st., are enjoying the week at "Sheldons" cottage, Orchard Island. Miss Cecilia O'Connor, of the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, and guest, Miss Frances Gardner, also of the hospital staff are guests at the cottage.

C. R. May, W. Spring-st., is in Columbus spending several days with Mrs. May who is ill at Grant Hospital in that city.

Miss Ruth Perkins, W. Wayne-st., has returned home from Indianapolis after a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Edward Norman.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Incey have returned to their home in Ft. Wayne after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Incey, W. Wayne-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunter, W. North-st., are attending the Elks convention this week in Chicago.

MRS. J. H. Wilson, W. North-st., entertained ten girl friends of her daughter, Margaret, Thursday afternoon with a theater party at the Regent. The affair was in honor of Miss Wallace's 13th birthday. Following the show, the guests were entertained at luncheon at the Wallace home.

Quiet noon Wedding
Celebrated Thursday

Miss Mamie Agnes Joy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Joy, N. Main-st., and Louis Erb, Lima, were quietly married, shortly after noon Thursday by Rev. John G. Behr, of the St. Gerard's rectory. Miss Margaret O'Connor, an intimate friend of the bride and Clarence Fraunhofer, were the attendants.

The bride wore a traveling suit of blue tulle, with small hat to match. Miss O'Connor also wore a blue suit. Immediately following the service, a dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Erb left later in the afternoon on a week's trip on the lakes and will be at home to their friends after July 29, on N. Baxton-st., where Mr. Erb has prepared a home for his bride. Mrs. Erb is recently was with the ready-to-wear department of the hotel store, while Mr. Erb is connected with the White Mountain Creamery Co.

Miss Margaret Simpson, Seattle, returned Wednesday from Orchard Island where she was the guest at a houseparty given by the Misses Supp, of Lima.

Mrs. E. F. Stallsmith, 517 N. Baxter-st., returned Thursday afternoon after a three weeks visit with friends and relatives in Cleveland.

Mrs. Huston, 507 N. Union-st., celebrated her 92nd birthday anniversary Thursday with a family dinner. Mrs. Huston is enjoying splendid health despite the fact that she has long passed the four score mark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Curtin, Sr. W. Market-st., are enjoying an eastern motor trip. Mrs. Curtin will visit relatives in Bradford and Allentown, Pa., before returning home.

Miss Gertrude Boose, W. Market-st., is the guest of Miss Marian Dunn.

or Mansfield, formerly of Lima. Esau Lucian A. Moebus of the U. S. N. left Wednesday for New York where he will report for duty on the U. S. S. Tennessee, after spending his months leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Moebus, 319 W. Elm-st.

JUST A GIRL

ANOTHER MAN—OF ANOTHER SORT

SYNOPSIS
Zena Stewart, debutante, tells her story. Her mother is determined she shall marry rich, while her father cautions her that it is the man himself, not what he has that counts. There are two young men in the story at this stage. Jack Pryor and Gregory Stuart. Zena's mother favors Jack, but Zena has not yet found her ideal. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Among my other characteristics was a great desire to have people like me. It amounted almost to an obsession. I used to be glad I was pretty, and think that being good to look at was one of the things that helped make girls happy. I used to be awfully sorry for plain girls—albeit I found the plainers they were, the smarter they seemed to be, sometimes. I thought perhaps their plainness was the reason. That they had to be clever to hold their own with the pretty girls, to get any attention.

Let me tell you, I have the idea so many girls hold that beauty was all a girl needed. I had tried to do well in my studies when in boarding school. I had set myself at my accomplishments in the same dogged manner. But they were accomplishments with me; nothing that was at all necessary, save to make me more attractive—or even would be necessary, so I thought.

I was so accustomed to our mode of life that I never gave a thought to what it might mean to go without the luxuries, the extravagances with which I had always been surrounded. Naturally, I had no idea they wouldn't go on and on forever.

Now I wonder if we could look ahead if it would make any difference; if we could grasp what it would mean to us? Somehow I do not think so. We are such creatures of habit and of environment that we do not believe the earthquake will come until we feel the earth rock under us.

One afternoon Claudia, Shephard gave a tea. Among the guests was a young man I never had met, a distant cousin of Claudia's who was visiting her. He was a quick, motioned Westerner, whom at first I set down as used to society, and rather awkward. But he was fairly good-looking and I felt it my duty to Claudia to help entertain him.

He was so different from the other young men I knew, that I really found him interesting in a serious sort of way. And he had, in spite of his seriousness, a vibrant personality that fairly obtruded itself upon me. But I was enormously surprised when he said he didn't care for society, that most social functions bored him.

"But what do you do?" I asked. "Do with yourself I mean?" I had not meant to be inquisitive, to ask him anything about his business or affairs, and was afraid he had misunderstood my question.

"Why, my dear Miss Stewart, there isn't half time enough to do what I want to do—to read, to study, to play in the open, not in crowded drawing rooms."

"But you never meet people that way," I said.

"Oh, yes I do! Real people, people who mean something. Have you ever stopped to think that most of our casual acquaintances mean nothing at all in our lives? They come and they go, but they leave not a ripple."

I was not accustomed to clearing young men talk in that strain. I almost gasped my surprise. I was in a fair way to get some of the thrills I so longed for. Anyway, I was intensely interested in this strange young man; almost a different species from any I had ever known, yet educated, gentlemanly, entertaining.

When Kenneth Lawrence smiled there was an entire change in his face. It was as if something sweet and gentle had swept across the rather firm lips and mouth. When I saw that smile I felt a slight stirring of something new and strange within me—the thrill had at last arrived. But almost unconsciously I now commenced to fight against the feeling, against this man's attraction for me.

The girls all rather feel for him, but he seemed to single me out, to be just a little more attentive to me than to the rest. I was flattered, and perhaps was nicer to him than I would have been had the girls not been around to see. Claudia whispered just before I left:

"Don't you think he is grand?"

"Who?" pretending I did not understand.

"Why, Kenneth, of course! My cousin."

"Oh, yes, he's quite interesting. A little different, isn't he, from New York men? Where is he from?"

"California. Father says he is like the country, big and virile."

That expression of Claudia's father remained with me: "Like the country, big and virile." It exactly expressed Kenneth Lawrence.

LOVE AND MARRIED LIFE

BY IDA McGLONE GIBSON

MY CHAUFFEUR GETS HIS ORDERS

It seems to me that the volting of my decision to make an incident of an incident in my life instead of my whole existence had given me a new outlook on life. I felt my spirits rise. In a way I seemed to be buoyed up.

As much to my surprise, I found myself dancing toward the window with a little song on my lips.

I reached the window just in time to wave to Alice, and I knew that she was delighted with the course I had taken in coming to the hotel and letting John and Elizabeth Moreland fight it out between them.

Miss Parker was evidently surprised to behold me in such spirits. "Why, Mrs. Gordon," she said, "you are just like a girl again!"

"Yes I feel like a girl again," I answered. "But, oh, Miss Parker, I wouldn't go back to my days as a girl, as a sweetheart, as a bride, if I had to give up this blessed bunch," and I picked diary up in my arms and went waltzing around the room with her.

"Aren't you afraid you will awaken her?" asked Miss Parker.

"She is awake—the darling! And look, she is smiling! That is the first time I have seen her smile. You do love your mother, don't you darling? And you love to see her happy and gay. She is going to be happy and gay until you grow up big enough to dance and sing with her."

Babies Like Thrills

"She certainly seems to act as though she likes it. But you will spoil her, Mrs. Gordon. Babies like thrills as much as anybody else, but you know thrills are not for them."

"Oh I think one little weeny thrill is good for a baby once in a while. You know, my dear Miss Parker, I never could understand just why one is always being told the glories and happiness of a monotonous and commonplace life."

"Perhaps, Mrs. Gordon, it is because most of us try to make the monotony of our lives seem to be happiness, and besides, the person who is always on the lookout for a thrill may run up against the agonizing kind instead of the glorious kind."

"Well, even so, I would not complain. I do not believe that any man or woman has really lived who has not suffered. I would rather suffer most intensely than have one of those temperaments that can not feel. I do not consider it a mark of superiority to go on one's way in a kind of superhumanism which makes one able to be all in all to one's self. I want to enjoy the fragrance of the roses, the feel of the warmth of the sunshine, to hear the hum of the busy world or the song of birds in the morning. To see, yes to open my eyes wide upon the joy and sorrow of those about me, to taste all the great emotions that may come to me."

"Why Mrs. Gordon you are a poet!"

Just a Woman

"No, my dear Miss Parker, I am just a woman, but perhaps a woman who is a little franker than most of the others. You see, ever since that old reaction from the life of the Greeks when the whole world swam beauty cult and one literally swam in a sea of senses, woman has been ashamed to tell herself that, after all, the great joys of this world

When your mouth tastes like all the mean things you ever did—mixed together, then you need

The All-Ohio Ticket for National Honors — Cox, Democrat, vs. Harding, Republican — Reds, National, vs. Indians, American.

REDS HAVE LONG STAY HOME TO CLINCH TOP

BY JOE BERNSTEIN.

If ever the Cincinnati Reds have an opportunity to clinch their hold on first place, or at least make it so secure a grip that it will take many a game to wrest it from them, they have it in their longest stay at home which begins Thursday.

Eighteen games without a break are scheduled for Pat Moran's proteges at Redland field with the Boston Braves leading off.

The Reds at present, hold first place by virtue of about one game, with Brooklyn the next highest bidder for the honors. However, the long stay at home should enable the Reds to increase that lead by a comfortable margin.

Salce and King have both been pitching better ball lately than they did early in the season. That speaks well for the Redland players for it was in this one department that they were weak.

Cleveland, shoved into second place again by Felsch's homer in the eleventh inning of Tuesday's game, will have a harder time gaining the first honors. The American race is unquestionably a three-cornered affair now, with the third party shifting almost as much as the first two. The Yanks are slugging their way to the top while Chicago and St. Louis have been fighting for a lead.

However, if the Yanks should succeed in gaining first at the end of the season, it will be quite an accomplishment, for it will mean that they have done it almost entirely by their slugging.

Babe Ruth almost slipped away from the Yanks Wednesday when his car edged off the road and turned over. However, he proved to be as hard an automobilist as a baseball player and came out of the accident with but a few scratches.

TRIANGLES COMING TO LIMA AGAIN

Bernie Halloran's Independent baseball outfit isn't going out of town after all, this week-end, according to reports this morning.

Rather than allow Lima to go without baseball for a Sunday, the manager of the Independents has been trying to prevail upon the Dayton outfit to come here instead of demanding that the Independents go to Dayton.

The latest word from the city had it that the Triangles were on the verge of accepting the Lima offer and play the third game on the Murphy-st. diamond. However, that would not relieve the Independents from making a trip to Dayton later in the season.

The result of the announcement has been a postponement of the proposed exhibition doubleheader that the Lima Industrial League was planning for next Sunday. It leaves them without a diamond upon which to play.

They have therefore decided to pass up their plans for this Sunday and complete them for some time later in the season.

The proposed exhibition was to have been a doubleheader between two picked teams from the league.

BAXTER NIPPED ON THE EAR

Don Baxter, the Lima ring star who is hooked by the American Legion to oppose Frankie Maana, five-weight champ of America, next Monday night, had his ear nipped up a little during his recent workouts, according to his manager Walter Perry.

The token was nothing serious at all, but it has made the fighter quite tender and offers the title holder an opportunity to play a touchy spot, if he gets wise. But Baxter will have to use a little strategy there and see to it that the champ doesn't get near the coming cauliflower.

Practically all arrangements have been completed for the card and one of the buyers, Tommy Tipton, of St. Wayne, 144 pound lad who is hooked for the preliminary, has already arrived in the city.

Tipton is working out at the Mason field gymnasium on S. Main-st., preparatory to his scrap with Eddie Davidson.

Baxter, with the exception of his ear, is said to be in the pink of condition. He will wind up his training this Saturday and will spend Sunday resting up for the big plunge on Monday night.

SACRIFICE TO COOK 'N REPEAT

Both "Post" and "Repeat" are doing double duty on the repeating stunt this season.

No, we are not talking of Irish coal, nor are we talking of a rifle—we have reference to the Cook boys who groom the Murphy street diamonds.

Old Jupiter Pluvius has been treating us rough this season and the Independent Twins are having a tough time of it. The Cooks (spelled Koch in German, but they say the war made that spelling impossible) have been spending a good share of their time filling water-melon holes that have been appearing almost too frequently on the Lima baseball diamond, instead of petting the grass into growing.

Not less than twice a week both Cooper and Otto, for such are their given names, must dig out the old wheelbarrow and butter the diamond with sand.

It's no cinch, the boys hold, for them to keep the diamond in condition with Jupiter Pluvius doing his best to handicap them. Nevertheless, with the opening of every game thus far this season, they have been able to make the white foul lines stand out like a band of pearls on a vampire's black dress. And they say that diamond is some vampire too—they haven't been able to resist its charms for many a game. But Old Jupiter is due soon to "Sacrifice to Cook."

TROTTERS ARE FEATURE OF RACES

CLEVELAND, O. — The Ohio, for 2:08 class trotters, with a value of $5,000 was the feature event on Thursday's Grand Circuit program at North Randall. A dash for colts and three other events completed the card.

Twelve were named to go to the post in the Ohio, Brusseloff, which brot the record price of $30,000 during the winter, ruled favorite. Peter Coley, Lou Todd and E. Colorado also had a large following.

Fields of ten were named in the 2:14 pace and the 2:18 trot, but both were considered open events by the horsemen. In the five-eighths of a mile dash for three year old trotters, and in the 2:07 class trot fields of five were named.

KNOT HOLE MAKES IT A HOME RUN

Lord, first baseman for the Moine team of the three-league smashed out one of the feadiest kind of a ball ever hit in league games.

He landed on the pill for a drive into left field. The ball cleared the left fielders head and looked as if it were coming to hit the fence and rebound. However, it failed to rebound.

Investigation showed that it had found its way out of the park thru a knot hole in the fence.

O. N. G. SHOOT IS NOW ON

CAMP PERRY, O. — Ohio national guardsmen are shooting here Thursday for state championship honors. feature event will be the 200 yard rapid fire shooting.

Sergeant William Hopkins, Blanchester, Wednesday, member of company 1, fourth Ohio national guard, was highest in totals for the first two events of the state individual match, the 600 yard and the 1,000 yard slow fire.

GIANT SCOUT AT SCENE OF COX NOMINATION

Dick Kinsella, scout for the New York Giants, is a delegate from Springfield, Ill., to the Democratic convention. Dick hopes the Democrats will pick a winning battery combination for the big game that starts right after the world's series.

BECKETT EASY, OLD CHAMP THINKS

LONDON—Tommy Burns, of Canada, ex-heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is to meet Joe Beckett, the champion of Great Britain, at the Royal Albert Hall, July 16.

At his training quarters, Jack Straw's Castle, Hampstead Heath, recently, Burns gave a training demonstration before a company of boxing critics. His display was particularly impressive, speed and force being perfectly matched in his work with the punching ball and in the sparring ring. There is no doubt that the champion will give Beckett a hard contest. To the company Burns said:

NOT A HAS BEEN

"I'm glad you are here to see for yourselves that I am not a bloated 'has been.' If when I arrived in England I was a little too solid you will note that it has melted somewhat. I have been very interested in what one or two writers have had to say about me and my attempt to come back, and I am going to try and show how foolish some of the opinions are. 'I have no illusions about the advantage of youth over age, and I am not deluding myself now. If I did not believe that I was able to beat Beckett I would honestly never have made the match. 'I went to Beckett's training quarters soon after I landed, and I concluded then that I could beat him. Later I saw him fight Smith and Wells. What I saw there confirmed my opinion that Beckett fought better on which I have seen him. I realize that he is a strong and a real fighter, but boxing is something more than brute strength and bulldog tactics. Existing at its best is a matter of brains and the expenditure of as little energy as possible for the biggest results. Many boxers beat themselves, many more than you would imagine—even the front rank ones. 'I fancy I have enough energy to go the full distance with Beckett, but you may be sure that it will not be my fault if it goes twenty rounds. I may get the worst of the early rounds; I may be beaten; but Beckett is going to be a very lucky man if he lasts ten rounds. 'If I were thirty years of age and had dissipated some critics would still accept me on the score of my youth, but remember many a successful boxer at thirty is an old man in the matter of organic fitness. If I were thirty and still able to go in the ring looking slim and plucked I would be accepted, but because I am thirty-nine and plucked I am not capable as the average good living boxer is at thirty, some writers short if I beat Beckett what will be. 'Beckett is the champion of Great Britain. Is there a better man in England? If I win, give me credit for beating the best man you have, and then help me all you can to unearth the man I am trying to find—a British heavyweight champion of the world."

WEDNESDAY'S HERO — Keefe.

The three-fingered athletic recruit pitcher, held the Red Sox hitless for eight innings and won the first game to 6-0. Scott Perry shut the Red Sox out in the second game 1 to 0.

KEARNS BELIEVES FRENCHMAN RUNNING AWAY FROM JACK DEMPSEY

BY HENRY L. FAHRELL.

NEW YORK — With Jack Kearns and Francois Desamps both in town, the Dempsey-Carpenter fight seems no nearer a reality than it was months ago when the Frenchman steamed up the bay, orating in broken English "Lead me to him."

eking up several unanswerd challenges, Kearns hurried to New York to call the hand of the Frenchman before they leave Saturday for France. He could not get in touch with the European champion or his manager Wednesday. He is to try again Thursday afternoon.

Desamps has already pulled the Cochrane alibi. While Dempsey was in court, his manager apparently forgot that he was under contract not to fight until 1921. But Wednesday night, he suddenly remembered it is now 1921, and that he would also in and if Kearns wanted to fight, he would have to go to London.

"London nothing," Kearns said. "Here I am, manager of the world's champion, practically running the fight—now he says to come over to London."

Voicing the sentiment of a good many men close to boxing affairs, Kearns expressed the belief Thursday that Carpenter was running away and that he never would return to America.

"If I can get Desamps in a corner, I'll throw the papers with the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, and to be on the my name on them for a night's entertainment and tell him to sign a contract to stage the fight at Coney Island that he doesn't want to fight."

Kearns said "I want more time to bare statement that he is coming back to the country. Let him post a forfeit that he will come to a fight with me."

Portage Tires

ALL OVERSIZE
Tires
Made in "DAISY" and
"SKIDLOCK" Treads

SOME historians give LaSalle—famed as the explorer of the Mississippi—credit for the discovery of the Northwest; others give the honor to Radisson. Very different in station and temperament, the one a clear-cut cavalier and the other a rugged frontiersman, they were equally brave and fearless. The name of the former is associated in history with the Niagara and the Chicago Portages; the name of the latter with the Mackinaw Portage.

When these bold "voyageurs" plunged into the unexplored regions of the Northwest, there was no word in our language to describe the difficult trails that connected lake to lake. So they called them Portages—a word derived from the French—meaning "to carry"—because upon these rude paths the travellers had to bear the burden of the canoes and baggage on their shoulders. The Portage then came to mean the hard grueling "carry," the back-breaking task of burden-bearing—all the pioneers of the North and West experienced.

THE first Portage Tire was produced ten years ago. It was a big, rugged and muscular tire—designed to stand up under the severest strains, built to deliver abundant mileage in spite of the jolts and jars of rough roads. A dependable tire then—it is immensely better today!

Every detail of carcass, tread, side-wall and bead is scientifically determined and built to exact specifications to insure correct balance and even wear. Only the stoutest and most carefully tested cotton fabric and cord goes into Portage Tires. That gives them strength to endure. A generously thick and tough—but pliable—rubber tread gives them the power to resist road abrasion.

Just as our language adopted the word Portage because of a need—so has the motor public adopted the tire.

They get you there—and back!

MARIE DORO STAR IN NEW MOVIE

Recently Completed in Sicily,
Features Old Theater

MORE COMING NEXT YEAR

News and Gossip of Play Houses of Lima

BY ESTHER WAGNER
MARIE DORO is starred in a movie recently completed in Sicily.

It has for its background and chief scene the ruins of the ancient Greek Theater at Taormina, which was rebuilt by the Romans, wrecked by Saracens, and partially restored in 1748.

Quite an old town is Taormina, which was founded by the Siculi in
B. C. 135.

The ruins give the movie a setting of rare beauty.

Also they give it the added interest of a travelogue.

MORE OF THEM

We're going to have a lot of pictures of this sort next season. They are being made in all parts of the world. Fairbanks makes a hack at it in his newest movie, "The Mollycoddle."

In that picture his travelogue interest is in the scenes made at the Hopi Indian village in Arizona. That will have an even greater interest to audiences abroad than in the United States.

American movie makers were without competitors during the war.
They recognize that if they are to continue to provide the whole world with its movies, the movies must have a broader viewpoint. The period seems at an end when practically all movie stories have their scenes laid in the United States.

MUTT AND JEFF—IF THIS IS PRINTED ON A HOT DAY I'LL BE IN LUCK—

By McMANUS

Short Shavings

An old colored man was burning dead grass when a "white guy" stopped and said: "You're foolish to do that. Uncle Eb, it will make the meadow as black as you are." "Don't worry 'bout dat, sah," responded Uncle Eb. "Dat grass will grow out an' be as green as you is."

One of the very substantial men of a thriving town in the west is named Garry McIntire. One day in conversation with a number of soldiers from a military post nearby he said:

"I understand you lads are going on a bike. When you reach Snake River take a good look at it. It is full of undercurrents and eddies. Boys, I am the only living man who ever swam that river."

Several days later the men crossed the Snake River on a cable ferry. The ferryman changed to him, quite casually of a waiting soldier:

"Do you know a man down in your country by the name of Garry McIntire?" They tell me he has accumulated a lot of money."

"I was talking to him only the other day," said the soldier. "He told me no swim Snake River."

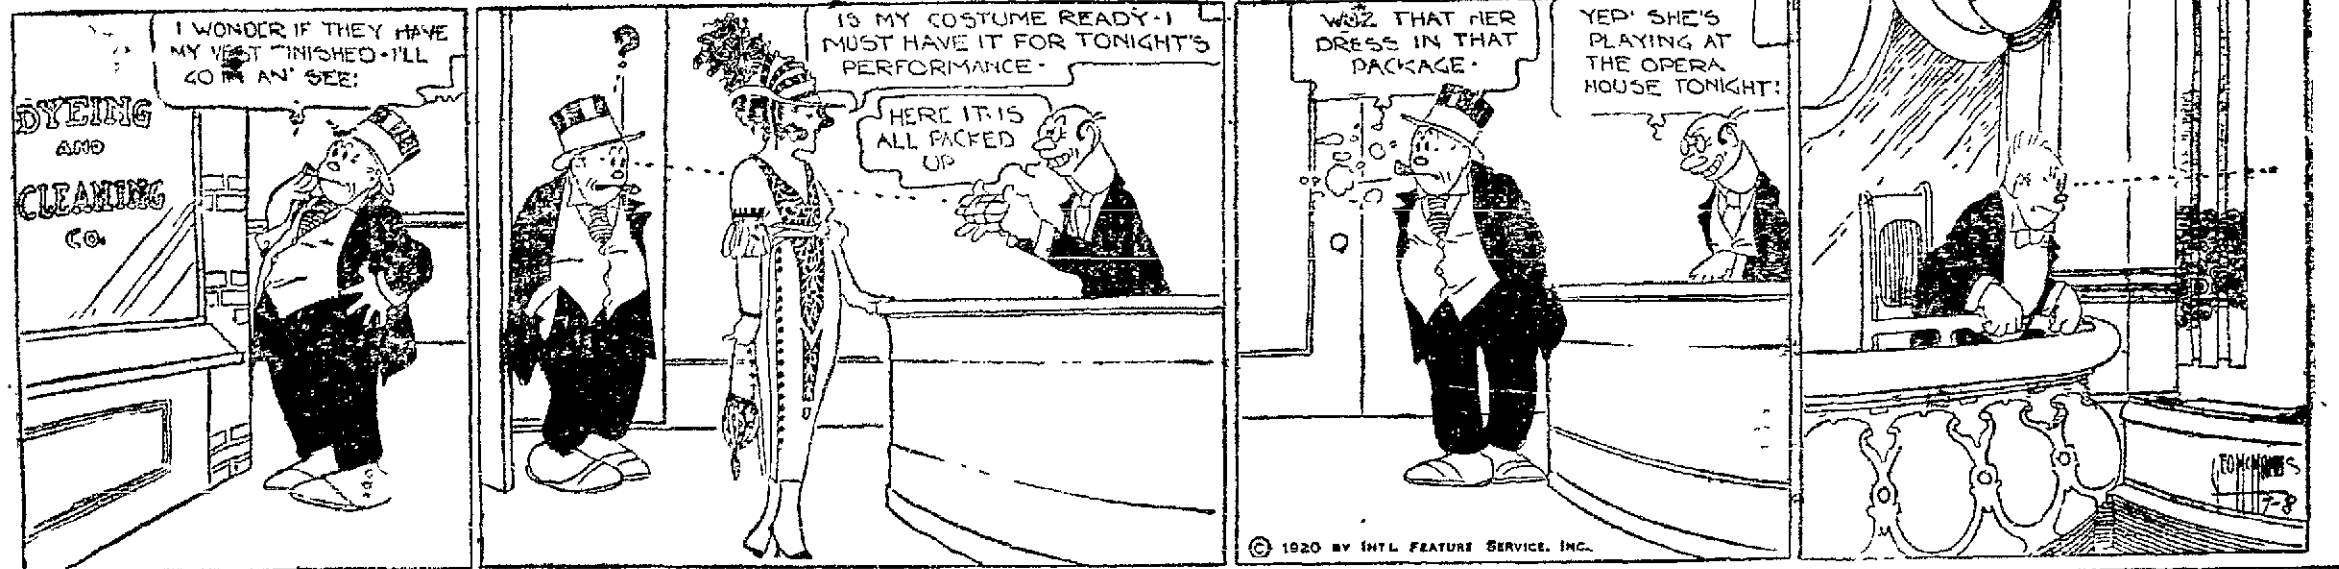

"That night, he did," said the ferryman. "He sure did, but we were all shooting at him."

A little fellow, aged five, arrived home from school while the family was all at the lunch table. With a disgusted look on his face, he said, "Say, ma, some of the kids in our class didn't know how to spell 'sarcastic'."

"Well, den," replied his mother, "how do you spell it?"

"Me?" he asked. "Oh, I was one of them."

BRINGING UP FATHER—

Do You Take Care of Your Teeth or Just Brush Them Once in a While?

If you are one of those prudent people who visit the dentist twice a year you know the difference between taking real care of your teeth and merely brushing them.

The difference is this: The dentist usually finds very little wrong with teeth that have been cared for.

Caring for the teeth means cleaning them thoroughly morning and night. It means keeping the mouth clean—the way it feels after using Pebecco Tooth Paste.

Pebecco leaves no doubt in your mind about your teeth and mouth being clean. They feel clean. Your mouth is refreshed by Pebecco and your teeth are protected, and well protected, from the causes of much tooth decay.

Do you use Pebecco?

Tea for Three

by the Lake in the Clouds

Any afternoon—tea and cinnamon toast if you like—all in the Canadian way—in the cozy lodge of logs and rock that hugs the edge of a mid summer snow-bank on the rim of the glacial cup which holds

Mirror Lake

Almost the first thing you will do at Lake Louise is to stroll up the easy, leisurely trail which leads to Mirror Lake. Big Beehive, Little Beehive, and Lake Agnes, where you throw snowballs, "shoot" your last roll of film, watch the waterfall fling itself toward the gem-like lakes below—and take tea at the highest tea house in North America. This is one of the most beautiful spots in the

Canadian Pacific Rockies

And so easy to reach from the Chateau Lake Louise. There are civilized ponies if you do not care to go on foot—courteous ponies, average ponies and lazy ponies. But it is a wonderful walk—one of many that start from the threshold of the Chateau Lake Louise.

July Sale of Furniture

The Strength of Our July Sale Is Just Like a Cough—It Can't Be Hid

50% discount on all Read and Libby Furniture. The fact that this sale has been going for two weeks, and hasn't weakened in the least proves it's a real strength. It is unreal it would have weakened long ago. The real strength of a furniture sale is bound to show itself if it is actually there, but if it is not, nothing can take its place.
